A Community Outreach Program

We are very proud to share with you the details of a recent community outreach program that was organized by our office staff.

Dr. Vail believes that people can help themselves avoid many foot problems later in life if they are properly educated about foot care at an early age. To that end, the office staff developed a short twenty minute presentation that demonstrated to area young students the importance of proper foot care as well as the appropriate way to take care of their young feet. Additionally, they learned about the anatomy of their feet and how their foot develops as they grow. Read More...

Heel Pain in Youth Athletes: A Warning Sign

Surgeon Urges Prompt Treatment for Growth Plate Injuries

Indoors and outdoors, youth athletes stay active year-round in competitive sports, and for many of them heel pain has become "just another part of the game. I advise parents that when a child complains of heel pain, it should be diagnosed promptly because it may be a warning sign of a serious foot problem.

Heel pain occurs frequently in children ages 6 to 14 as their feet grow and the heel bone develops. Read More...
